Union Group Approves New Steel Pact

Washington (AP)—The great steel strike officially ended yesterday as CIO President Philip Murray ordered his 650,000 union workers back on the job and hailed the settlement as a "mighty victory" for labor.

The end came at 5 p.m. on the 44th day of the walkout that cost the steel workers 350 million dollars in lost wages, threatened to wreck the nation's economy and gravely jeopardized the defense program.

Even with the back-to-work movement set to begin almost immediately, the effects of the strike, the longest in the industry's history, will be felt for months.

Industry experts said it will take at least four to six weeks before enough steel pours from the 380 strike-idled mills to satisfy current needs.

Defense officials planned to announce rules Monday for dividing up the first trickle of production, with emphasis on tonnage for military needs.

Some defense plants, notably including a factory producing artillery shells, had been closed because of lack of steel and others had been reduced to skeleton supplies.

The end of the costly strike came when Murray's 175-man Wage-Policy Committee officially approved an agreement reached at the White House Thursday seven hours after President Truman, in blunt terms, demanded an immediate settlement of the dispute.

The policy committee said the agreement "marks a great new forward stride in the efforts of the steelworkers—to achieve a decent life for themselves and their families."

Actually, the agreement represented substantial concessions by both sides. The union lost on its No. 1 demand for a tight union shop and settled for a modified version which provides loopholes for new employees to withdraw from the union and for old employees who are not union members now to remain non-union.

As for the steel companies, they granted wage benefits totaling 21 cents an hour, retroactive to last March 1, and won from the government the right to raise their prices an average of $5.65 a ton. Some companies had suggested as much as $12 a ton more to absorb the cost of the wage increase.

In an extraordinary move, designed to heal the wounds of bitterness left by the long strike, President Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel went before the CIO Wage-Policy Committee immediately after the formal ratification had been sealed.

The steel titan shook hands with Murray while shirt-sleeved union men applauded.

Fairless promised to foster "a better relationship and a better understanding" between big steel and the steel workers, and announced that he and Murray together will visit every U. S. Steel plant in the country.

Torch Sets Dreher Ave. House Afire

Flame from an acetylene torch touched off a fire at the home of Mrs. Julia Woolever, 1406 Dreher Ave. in Stroud Township, yesterday afternoon but the resulting damage was slight.

Volunteer firemen from Stroud Township, summoned about 1:30, brought booster tanks into play and had the smoldering section of the frame home under control by 1:55.

A friend of the family was reported using the torch to take paint off the inside window frame at the rear of the house when the fire started. Firemen tore shingles and weather boards off a small section and cut through plaster inside to get at the fire.

500,000 Vets To Receive Bonus Checks

Washington (AP)—The Army said yesterday its first mustering out paychecks for about 500,000 veterans of the Korean War period will be mailed about Aug. 15.

Thereafter, the Army scheduled payments at the rate of approximately 180,000 monthly. The checks will be sent from the Army Finance Center, St. Louis, Mo., to which qualified veterans who have left the service since June 27, 1950, should apply.

The Army has emphasized the necessity for veterans to accompany applications with their separation forms. These will be returned with the bonus.

The last session of Congress authorized mustering-out payments to all members of the armed forces who have served since June 27. All ranks below major in the Army will receive payments on the following basis:

Less than 60 days service, $100; more than 60 days service, within the United States, $200; more than 60 days service including overseas duty, $300.

Other service branches have not announced their payment plans.

HST Continues Aid To Danes Despite Deal

Washington (AP)—President Truman ordered aid to Denmark continued despite Denmark's delivery of a 13,000-ton oil tanker to Russia on July 7.

The President said he had decided that stopping military and economic assistance to that country would "clearly be detrimental to the security of the United States."

He said it would mean "weakening defenses of NATO, contributing to the strength of the Soviet Union, fostering the political and propaganda objectives of the Communist bloc, and defeating the purposes of the Battle Act."

The Battle Act—named for Rep. Battle (D-Ala)—provides that any country which knowingly permits export of strategic materials to the Communist bloc becomes ineligible for further U. S. mutual security assistance.

However, the legislation authorizes the President, on the recommendation of the Mutual Security Agency (MSA) to make exceptions when this action is considered in the interest of American security.

In the case of Denmark, 11 government agencies—including MSA—recommended the action taken by Truman.

Wanted Criminal Captured; Used Cops As Hostages

Miami, Fla. (AP)—George Arthur Heroux, 22, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals, was captured yesterday after a wild chase in which he used two officers as hostages.

The capture and release of the hostages followed a bullet-punctuated chase which ended as the policemen swerved their car into a tree, stunning Heroux.

Heroux was sought on charges of robbing the South Side Bank in Kansas City, Mo., of an undisclosed amount of money last Oct. 10, and of making off with $62,000 in currency from the Johnson County National Bank in Prie Village, Kan., last Nov. 23.

Police Chief Barron Shields and Patrolman Robert Dubray of suburban El Portal were forced at gunpoint to drive Heroux away from a house where the officers began an investigation.

Rep. Walter Presides At Convention

By Leonard Randolph
A hard core of Pennsylvania delegates—including Harold Edwards, Everett Kent and Delegates-at-large Rep. Francis Walter and Mrs. Helen Sutton—led Gov. Adlai Stevenson across the line last night to the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

Pennsylvania's 15th Congressional District delegates had endorsed Stevenson for the nomination on the opening night of the convention, and voted consistently for him during the balloting.

Stevenson's nomination last night came at the end of a consistent drive on the convention floor in which the Keystone delegates—some of them—were driving forces.

During the afternoon session yesterday, Rep. Walter served as temporary chairman while permanent chairman Sam Rayburn took a breathing spell.

Walter remained on the speaker's platform throughout the larger portion of the second ballot.

The convention tapped a second member of the 15th District delegation for an honored post on an important committee.

Everett Kent, Bangor attorney, was named to the group charged with informing the vice-presidential nominee of his selection for the post.

The Pennsylvania delegation—which on Sunday night had cast 32 "personal preference" votes for Stevenson—seemed yesterday to have played a decisive role in the Illinois governor's bandwagon draft.

From the Sunday night total, which was not "binding," the Keystone delegation zoomed Stevenson upward to a total of 40 votes on the second rollcall.

Stevenson received a "surprising" 36 votes on the first ballot. The rest of the 70 votes were split this way: Kefauver, 22%; Truman, 6%; Harriman, 4%; Kerr, 1/2 and Douglas 1/2.

State Sen. Samuel G. Neff, a Kefauver man, demanded a poll of the delegation in an effort to force support of his man from the 27 "pledged delegates."

Despite disapproval of at least some of his group, Neff challenged the vote of Philadelphia City Chairman James A. Finnegan.

Neff lost on both points. The poll actually produced an additional two votes for Stevenson—these had been formerly given to Harriman. Kefauver's total remained the same.

Chairman Rayburn ruled that the matter of pledged delegates was "between the delegate and his constituents" and not for the convention to decide, thus eliminating what Neff had obviously hoped would become another wrangle over procedure.

Finnegan argued that the Kefauver votes in the preference primary in his area were so few as to be "not binding"—then cast his vote for Stevenson.

On the second ballot, delegation chairman, former Sen. Francis J. Meyers, announced a total of 45 votes for Stevenson.

This total was changed, however, when five Truman supporters reversed themselves and decided to hold their votes for the president.

This made the second-vote tally: Stevenson 40, Kefauver 21 1/2, Harriman 2 1/2 and Truman 6.

When the third ballot came, both Harriman and Dever had thrown their complete support to the Stevenson move. Scattered portions of the Russell bloc joined a short time later to spell an end to Estes Kefauver's bid for the nomination.

The Harriman switch, which provided a knockout punch on behalf of the Stevenson draft move, was telegraphed early yesterday.

Harold Edwards, Stroudsburg delegate to the convention, said early last night that the two "had met" and that he "wasn't sure what it meant."

Edwards maintained, however, as had most of the Illinois governor's supporters that the midwesterner's big show of strength would come on the third ballot or later.

Allied Truce Team Bolts Panmunjom Conference But Will Return In One Week

Munsan, Korea. (AP)—The Allied armistice team walked out of the Panmunjom conference tent today and said they would be back in a week.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison made his declaration of a recess after the first open meeting of the truce teams which followed a long series of closed sessions.

The walkout came shortly after Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters in Tokyo issued a detailed resume of secret truce talks from July 4 through yesterday.

The secret sessions failed to produce any results Clark said, because the Communists "refused to recognize the inescapable fact that a large percentage of Chinese prisoners refused flatly to go back to their former masters."

Refusal of about 13,000 Chinese to return willingly to Red control spiked chances for a settlement in the secret meetings, despite Allied disclosure approximately 83,000 North Korean and Chinese prisoners are willing to return to the Communist side.

The new figure, raised from the previous Allied estimate of 70,000 resulted from completion of the Allied "screening" program. This would leave something under 90,000 unwilling to be repatriated, most of them North Koreans.

The list showed, however, that out of more than 20,000 Chinese held prisoners, only 6,400 want to go home.

This was a crushing blow to the Communist propaganda that all Chinese fighting in Korea are "volunteers."

There was speculation that Kefauver, by withdrawing and throwing his support to Stevenson, hoped to get the vice presidential nomination. However, Stevenson was said to favor Senators Russell, Sparkman or Fulbright, in that order.

Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan, who had been in consultation with Kefauver, told a reporter:

"This is it—Stevenson is nominated."

There was a measure of confirmation from Kefauver himself. As he sat on a rear platform a reporter inquired whether he was heading for a vice presidential spot on a Stevenson ticket.

"I don't think so. I'm not going to be anything."

Sen. Richard E. Russell of Georgia came to convention hall last night and one of his campaign managers said Russell would endorse Stevenson for the presidential nomination.

Tense, shouting delegates, and the people packed to the gallery eaves, caught on quickly to the exhibition of power politics that began taking hold at the start of the national convention's third nominating ballot.

Kefauver had led through the first two, but without a decisive edge, Stevenson was second on each, with Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia a little farther back in the field. Favorite son candidates brought up the rear.

President Truman even got half a dozen votes, from Pennsylvania.

Truman himself arrived in this convention city just as the official results of the first go-round were being announced here in this stockyards amphitheater. He had dabbed a finger in the proceedings over long distance, before leaving Washington by plane.

It was part of the behind the scenes maneuvering that went on before weary, listless delegates had struggled into convention hall. And there was more of it while they toiled through an initial roll call that used up three and a half hours.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota reported Truman telephoned him about presidential possibilities. Humphrey also was on the telephone with Stevenson.

Humphrey wouldn't expand on the talk he released his 26 favorite son votes from Minnesota to go as they please. He said they would be split among Stevenson, Kefauver and Harriman.

There were indications that Truman was trying to help hitch to the Stevenson bandwagon the elements in the party that call themselves liberal.

Governor Chosen On Third Ballot

Convention Hall, Chicago, (AP), Adlai Stevenson, the Illinois Governor who had professed all along that he preferred to run for reelection rather than seek the highest office in the land, was nominated for president on the Democratic ticket early this morning.

Governor Stevenson's nomination came on the third ballot at the national convention.

By Douglas B. Cornell
Convention Hall, Chicago (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois all but clinched the Democratic presidential nomination last night in a tremendous political power play.

And, at last, the hesitant Stevenson was out in the open as a candidate.

Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman hopped nimbly out of the way of a Stevenson bulldozer and tossed his own strength to the Illinois governor.

A favorite-son governor, Paul Dever, of Massachusetts, withdrew, too, and announced:

"I personally shall vote for that American I feel to be the best equipped to lead this nation in the four years which lay ahead of us."

"I shall vote for Gov. Adlai Stevenson."

Furthermore, Dever said, he had talked with Stevenson and:

"He informs me that he will happily accept the nomination of this party for the highest temporal office in the world."

Tennessee's crime busting Sen. Estes Kefauver was ready to surrender. In a nearby hotel room, he heard what was happening. Kefauver rushed to this convention amphitheater, paraded down the center aisle, up to the speakers' platform. But, with a roll call on, he was refused a chance to talk.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, the permanent chairman, ruled the roll call could not be interrupted.

There was speculation that Kefauver, by withdrawing and throwing his support to Stevenson, hoped to get the vice presidential nomination. However, Stevenson was said to favor Senators Russell, Sparkman or Fulbright, in that order.

Sen. Kefauver High On First Two Ballots

Convention Hall, Chicago (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee paced a narrowing field of Democratic presidential hopefuls yesterday through two dragging, indecisive national convention ballots.

Trailing just behind within ready striking distance were Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Sen. Richard E. Russell of Georgia.

The three front runners were hunched this way as the convention took time out for dinner and a cleanup job on the convention floor requested by fire commissioners:

Kefauver 362 1/2
Stevenson 324 1/2
Russell 294
On the first ballot, Kefauver had 300 1/2, Russell 267 1/2, Stevenson 248 1/2, Harriman 126.

With 615 1/2 votes required to clinch the nomination, the standings meant that the convention was at the point of a deadlock if the front runners held their strength. Or any two of the trio were in a position to get together and toss the nomination to one or the other.

Other potentially decisive combinations were possible, too, as the Democrats headed toward ballot No. 3 at a night session. Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman hung on in the race with 121 votes. Vice President Alben Barkley's 78 1/2 votes were a factor.

Stevenson, routers were disappointed, if not a bit worried, that their man didn't run better the second lap around the track. They had counted on heavy support from backers of favorite sons, once the courtesy votes for the sons were out of the way. And they did get some.

Stevenson, in fact, showed a bigger gain than any of the others between the first and second ballots. He picked up 5 1/2 votes, to 22 1/2 for Kefauver and 26 for Russell.

But opposition camps said a 5 1/2-vote jump didn't look like anything of bandwagon proportions.

Chairman Sam Rayburn banged the convention into a recess shortly after 6 p.m. He said he trusted none of the candidates "will think the chair is filibustering" or favoring one over another. He explained that the Chicago fire department had proposed there be a recess in order to let cleaners get in.

A newspaper caught fire and flared up early yesterday morning on the floor, and nobody wanted a repetition of the excitement.

Secret Service men moved in along with the cleaners to case the hall in advance of President Truman's appearance to address the convention and present the candidate.

Warfront Notes Light Sparring

Seoul, Korea. (AP)—Allied and Chinese Communist troops sparred lightly last night in an ominous breather in the fight for Old Baldy and T-Bone hills, prize outposts on the Korean Western Front.

An Allied officer at the front said there was only sporadic artillery and small arms fire exchanges following the Friday pre-dawn battle when French infantrymen hurled back a Red battalion attack on T-Bone hill. The Frenchmen are attached to the U. S. 2nd Division.

The Chinese still hold the crest of nearby Old Baldy.

Truman Slated To Speak Before Nominating Veep

Convention Hall, Chicago (AP)—The Democratic National Convention will hear from President Truman and its new presidential nominee before it names its candidate for vice president.

The National Committee announced this change in plans at midnight (EDT) last night.

Originally the program had called for the selection of a vice-presidential candidate before hearing Truman and the man the party hopes will bring it its sixth straight presidential victory in November.

There was some speculation that Mr. Truman might renominate Vice President Barkley for second spot on the ticket.

The committee said there would be a 20-minute recess after the nomination is completed and before the speech-making starts.

Puerto Rico Now Self-Governing 'Commonwealth'

San Juan, Puerto Rico. (AP)—Parades and flag-raising signaled the rise of Puerto Rico yesterday as a self-governing "free commonwealth" associated with the United States.

A crowd of about 35,000 cheered as Gov. Louis Munoz Marin raised the Caribbean island's own red, white and blue emblem in front of the capital to fly beside the Stars and Stripes.

Some wept at this official signal of the adoption of a new Constitution giving the 2 1/2 million Puerto Ricans the right to run their lives without direction from Washington save in defense and foreign affairs.

Strike Settled; 9,000 Affected

Morrisville (AP)—Another of the numerous labor disputes among construction workers at the United States Steel Co. Fairless Works was settled yesterday.

The dispute had idled some 9,000 who are working on the new steel plant. Workers had refused to cross picket lines of Local 57, AFL Laborers Union. The pickets were withdrawn yesterday.

A U. S. Steel spokesman said operations will resume Monday.

The trouble was reported to have been settled when representatives of the AFL Laborers' International stepped in. The dispute was centered over charges that other AFL unions were doing the laborers' work.

This was the fifth jurisdictional dispute since construction on the new steel plant was started.

Sunday School Lesson

Our lesson today begins with what our newspapers would call a "human interest" story — the grief of a married woman who was childless.

A man named Elkanah had married two women. His first wife was Hannah, the one to whom God had given no children. The second was Peninnah, who had borne several.

Peninnah taunted Hannah with her childlessness, and Hannah was most unhappy. However, Hannah was the one whom Elkanah loved, and he asked her if it was not enough that she had him.

Every year Elkanah went to Shiloh, where the Ark of the Lord was kept, to offer sacrifice and to worship. Hannah went with him and kneeling in the temple she prayed fervently to Jehovah, asking that He would bless her with a child, and promising that if He did she would dedicate him to God's service.

Hannah prayed silently, only her lips moving, and Eli, the chief priest, seeing her, thought she must be drunk, and he reproved her. She explained that she was praying, and then he gave her his blessing, and said, "Go in peace; and the God of Israel grant thee thy petition that thou hast asked of Him."

Hannah went home much comforted, and in time she had a son and called him Samuel, saying, "Because I have asked him of the Lord."

Hannah did not forget her promise to the Lord, and when the child was weaned, probably when he was about three years old, she took him to Eli with sacrificial meat, flour and wine, saying, "Oh, my lord, I am the woman that stood by here, praying unto the Lord."

"For this child I prayed; and the Lord hath given me my petition which I asked of Him; therefore also I have lent him to the Lord; as long as he liveth he shall be lent to the Lord."

Then Hannah sang a beautiful song of praise to Jehovah for her blessing, a song that reminds us of the Magnificat of Mary, mother

Class To Hold Annual Outing

The Junior Bible Class of Grace Lutheran Sunday School, East Stroudsburg, will hold its annual summer outing in the form of a corn-roast Sunday afternoon at the summer bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. Hanford L. Cleveland, who will serve as host, both anticipate a large representation from the class.

voice called Samuel, and each time he thought it was Eli calling. The third time Eli said it was God's voice and told him to say, "Speak, for Thy servant heareth."

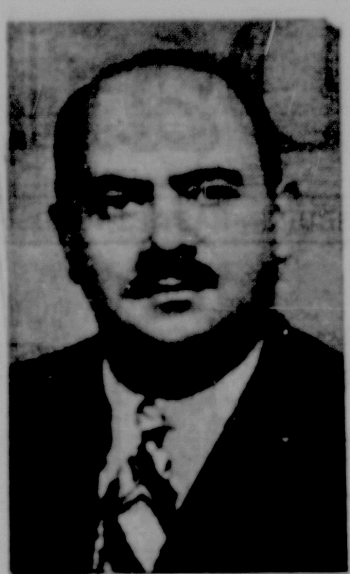

The fourth time he heard the voice Samuel answered as Eli had told him, and then he was told that because of the unrepented sins of his sons, Eli and the two priests would perish.

Next morning Eli begged most earnestly that Samuel tell him what Jehovah had said to him in the night. Samuel must have been very reluctant to do so, but at Eli's command he told him everything.

Eli was old and nearly blind, and he felt the justice of God's condemnation, so he said, "It is the Lord, let Him do what seemeth Him good."

"And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and let none of his words fall to the ground."

"And all Israel from Dan (in the north) even to Beersheba (in the south), knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord."

Ruling Benefits Prohibition Cause

St. Louis (AP)—Prohibition got a shot in the financial arm yesterday.

A Circuit Court ruling held that a $280,000 trust created in the will of Dr. Francis L. Stuever after he died in 1928 in Vienna must be used to further the cause of prohibition in Germany, Austria and the United States.

St. Louis University had claimed the trust fund as the residuary legatee of Miss Celia Stuever, daughter of Dr. Stuever who received the principal portion of her father's estate. It was provided that the trust must be established upon her death which came in 1948.

The court had been asked for instructions on how to dispose of the trust.

The theme will be "The Power to Persuade." The homily will attempt to encourage and inform Christian people as to how they may better present their faith to a torn and bitter world.

Special music will be provided by the senior vested choir. The choir will sing Foster's "Tear Not, I Am With Thee" with Robert L. Wolbert singing the solo. The sacrament of infant baptism will be administered to Renee Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dean III, and Peter Michaels LeBar, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. LeBar.

At 7:30 p.m. members will meet at the Zion Reformed Church for the eighth and final service in this year's community Summer vesper series. Rev. Frank Blatt will deliver the sermon.

'Worry' Topic Selected By Rev. Wunder

The sermon theme at the worship service on Sunday at 11 a.m. in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, will be "The Therapy For Worry," Rev. W. F. Wunder will use as the text for his sermon, Matthew 6:25, "Do not worry about life." (American Translation).

Timely implications from the Gospel will be applied to the various phases of life and the myriad conflicting disturbances which tend to cause worry and fear in numerous lives. In a troubled world and in the monotonous routine of daily existence folk in every walk of life find numerous causes for worry as is evidenced by the awful ascending spiral of sin and dissension.

Ushers for the service include Julius A. Troeltsch, John A. Walck, James L. Merring and Clifford R. Kintner. Altar flowers will be placed by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Getz in memory of their son, Pfc. Charles S. Getz, who was killed in action in Korea on June 19, 1951. Charles would have been 21 years old last Monday, July 21. He is the only Gold Star on the Korean War Service Flag of Grace Church.

Sunday's Bulletins will be presented by Mrs. Fred P. Eyer in honor of the birthday of her husband, Mrs. Dorothy Repsher and Mrs. Kathryn Morris will be in charge of the nursery for children during the worship hour. Thomas L. Kintner, Frank Schaller and Paul Hoffman, candidates for the "Pro Deo et Patria" award in Scouting will serve as acolytes.

The senior chancel choir will sing the appropriate anthem, "A Psalm For Worship" by Pasquet with Carol R. All directing. Church School will be held at 9:45 in the Parish House and the lesson theme will be, "Preparation for Service."

Bible Lesson Subject Given

An answer to the profound question which Pontius Pilate propounded to Christ Jesus will be found in the Bible Lesson to be read in all Christian Science churches next Sunday when the subject will be "Truth," and in the Golden Text from the First Epistle of John: "It is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth." (5:6).

Among other citations the following will be read from the Gospel according to Matthew: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon." (6:24).

And among correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is this: "We cannot serve two masters nor perceive divine Science with the material senses. Drugs and hygiene cannot successfully usurp the place and power of the divine source of all health and perfection. Only through radical reliance on Truth can scientific healing power be realized." (167: 11-14,30).

Wake 'em up,
GABRIEL!

There isn't much music coming out of that horn. But one thing's certain: this little fellow is making plenty of noise.

If it happens to be Sunday morning, when the family sleeps late, this sturdy musician isn't going to receive much praise. His lungs are strong, though, and he's going to sit there and toot that trumpet until Mom or Dad takes it away from him.

All of his playmates are at Sunday School, so you really can't blame him for trying to while away the idle hours. Unfortunately, his parents haven't got the Church-going habit, so this boy will probably grow up like them and sleep away the hours in which he could be getting spiritual nourishment.

You've got the right idea, Gabriel. Wake them up to their responsibility!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rural Road Paving

Within three years at the most, the remaining 1000 miles of unpaved rural roads in the Pennsylvania highway system will be paved, to be added to the 40,000 miles of state highways already available for modern motor transportation.

This happy look into the near future was given the rural letter carriers of Pennsylvania at their meeting in Erie this week, as Secretary of Highways E. L. Schmidt explained the program of his department with special emphasis on the rural phase.

The head of the commonwealth's busy highway department told the men who each day drive thousands of miles in the wide open spaces of our state that it is entirely possible and quite probable for the completion of the rural paving program to coincide with the completion of Gov. John S. Fine's administration in January, 1955.

It is always good news for those who dwell in the less populous sections of Pennsylvania to learn of the continuing plan for improving the roads in those sections, but it is especially pleasing to the rural mailmen whose paths are far from the turnpike and the four-lane major highways.

Pennsylvania has always been proud of its system of highways, from the earliest days of the department when the roads of the state were thick with dust or sticky with mud, and farmers of the time were accustomed to augment their incomes by using their work horses to pull automobiles out of the mud.

So when Secretary Schmidt told the rural mailmen of the plans for the paving of the remaining 1000 miles of dirt roads and explained that more than $103,000,000 was spent by the state for highway improvement last year, it was added indication that our state has no intention of abandoning its position as one of the foremost road building governments in the entire nation.

Good News For Motorists

A motorist who was hemmed in by a double parker took his case to a New York City municipal court where he was awarded six cents for the inconvenience caused him. The double parker appealed, but lost his case.

Chief of Police Arthur Swink had the same circumstance confront him a few days ago. His was a decision on a traffic violation. He arrested the double parker.

Chief Burgess L. J. Klenle showed his approval by enforcing the decision.

Certainly the six cent damage award was not of major importance, but the court's ruling was. The double parker, a doctor, contended that he was parked double while attending a patient. The court ruled, however, that if such a practice were to be condoned, it could lead to blocking of an entire street.

To anyone in the Stroudsburgs, and we would guess they are legion, who has suffered the same inconvenience, this ruling should come as good news. It might give some of the truck and passenger car drivers who practice double parking something to think about.

The New Influences

In both the Republican and Democratic conventions a phenomenon appeared which is far-reaching and may alter the nature of the parties.

In the Republican Party the Dewey power was employed to establish authority within the party. Every effort was and is being made by the Dewey forces to read out of the party most of the leadership that has held the Republicans together since 1932. Herbert Hoover, General Douglas MacArthur, Colonel Robert L. McCormick, Senators Taft, Dickinson, McCarthy and most of the Senators who would chair important committees in the Congress if Eisenhower swept the country are to be subordinated to the judgment of outsiders like Paul Hoffman, General Lucius Clay, who is a Democrat, and Winthrop Aldrich.

Of course, this will not happen. The Republicans will have to find a basis for mechanical unity or the Democrats will be elected, no matter how divided they are. The reason is that actually the Democrats are now most effective in what used to be Republican states. The Republicans will not detract the C. I. O. P. A. C. from the Democrats.

On the other hand, the Dewey position is that the old guard is an incubus and that the Republican Party would be better off without it. Dewey is particularly antagonistic to Herbert Hoover who aided Dewey in every national campaign. In 1948, had it been for Hoover's influence, Dewey might not have been nominated at all; a deadlock would have ensued and someone else, Vandenberg or Stassen, might have been nominated.

The desire to rid the Republican Party of its older leadership is paralleled in the Democratic Party by the desire of the A.D.A. Fabian Socialists to rid the Democratic Party of its traditional Democrats. Senators Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Blair Moody of Michigan, Herbert Lehman of New York, William Benton of Connecticut, who demanded and put over the purging loyalty resolution, would rid their party of such leaders as the Vice President, Alben Barkley, Governor James Byrnes, Jim Farley, Speaker Rayburn, Senator Harry Byrd, Governor Shivers of Texas, Governor Herman Tamm of Georgia, and practically speaking the entire Southern delegation to Congress.

They were on the verge of success on Tuesday night, but wiser counsel required that their purging resolution be toned down. It is interesting to note that when Senator Benton of Connecticut made his speech, he was hardly applauded at any time and it looked as though he left the rostrum with his tail be-between his legs. Benton, who used to be an advertising man for big business, has suddenly turned himself into a left-wing Democrat.

The quickie slogan makers have been speculating upon whether these two conventions do not spell the end of an era. This is, it seems to me, a premature historic judgment. Eras end on events, not because younger and ambitious men seek to move into line. In both conventions, junior politicians wearied of biding their time, project themselves into power.

The A.D.A. has sought power since Franklin D. Roosevelt formed his alliance with organized labor in his first term. Jack Kroll, who could not be elected a full delegate from Ohio but came to the convention as an alternate, is the political genius of their group, in spite of the fact that he failed to keep Robert A. Taft out of the Senate. In the Republican Party, however, Herbert Brownell and Tom Stephens, the men who did Dewey's work, are not idealists. They are political technicians. Had Dewey supported Taft, instead of Eisenhower, they would have tried to do for Taft what they did for Eisenhower.

No one can ignore the vast dissatisfaction in both parties. The so-called new Republicans and the A.D.A. among the Democrats are of a generation that has evidently wearied of the restraints of American tradition. They are closer to each other than they are to those who have prevailed in either party during the past 30 years. They need a party of their own and should have it. They represent in the United States the same concepts as the Labour Party in England.

And the conservatives in both parties, for instance Taft and Byrd, need a party of their own, but no third party is likely to come into existence this year, although the demand for it is increasing.

When Hitler was at his peak, just after the English had barely escaped with their lives at Dunkirk on June 4, 1940, Winston Churchill put heart in the people of the free world with his famous broadcast promising, "We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds and we shall fight in the fields and on the streets." The Dean of Canterbury, however, who was in the studio, reports that at that point Mr. Churchill put his hand over the microphone, and added in a grim whisper, "and we'll hit them over the heads with beer bottles, which is all we have really got!" Some weeks later the RAF proved that for once in his life, Mr. Churchill had underestimated his assets.

Birthdays — J. M. Bunnell, E.S., was honored on his birthday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Karel.

Service Flag — A movement has started in Saylorsburg to raise funds to purchase a service flag for boys in the service, according to Mrs. Lenora Hildrebrand. Friends are asked to leave contributions with John Gower in Saylorsburg.

Glen Brook — Members and guests of Glen Brook Country Club were present at a dance attended by people of the Stroudsburgs and nearby towns. The dance was followed by entertainment by William Youse, Dennis Harris and other local talent. Mrs. Joseph Barnes and Mrs. Ray Marcon celebrated their birthdays.

Robbery — Four young men robbed the New York Restaurant of $27 while Miss Florence Bush was in the kitchen.

20 Years Ago

Horseshow — R. LeRoy Dangler, president of the Pocofco Mountains Horse Show Association, made his final report of arrangements for the show starting Friday.

Bridge Tea — Mrs. Tyler Wolf, Shawnee, won first prize at a bridge-tee for the benefit of Monroe County Crippled Children's Association, at Buckwood Inn.

To Milwaukee — Mr. and Mrs. Frank LeBlair and son, Frank, and M. B. Houser, left to visit Mr. LeBlair's brother in Milwaukee.

Hollywood — Television has been good to Reed Hadley. It's made a ladies' man of him.

When he was just a movie actor, fan mail frequently complimented his acting. Ministers liked his portrayal of a preacher, Adm. Nimitz sent him a letter commending his authentic depiction of a carrier commander in a training film.

But now, Reed says, a little wonderingly, "They seem to be more interested in me." The fan mail he gets as Capt. John Braddock of CBS' every-Thursday "Racket Squad" is preponderantly from women.

One lady wrote, "I like your animalistic growl." Another praised his "gorgeous eyes." Many enthused over his speaking voice, which is as handsome, in a base, tonal way, as his long and slender looks.

The Once Over

Chicago Reckless

The tumult and the shouting dies—The orators and crowds depart—The screen is easier on our eyes—And heeded is our, "Have a heart!"

The pain is ended . . . Wanna bet? We hear 'em yet! We hear 'em yet!

Far-called the delegates depart—From mike and platform sinks each voice—The summer now can get no worse—(Regardless of the peepul's choice); This is the month we can't forget—We hear 'em yet! We hear 'em yet!

The convention season is over or nearly so, and video is giving the country back to the non-politicians and the non-Indians. Although fattened and bruised, the television-set owners are resting as well as can be expected. Their ultimate recovery is looked for. A lot of it was hard to take at both conventions. Too frequently the doings could have been screened as "Life in a Loony Bin." But it is this corner's hunch that the Presidency of the United States suffered a loss of dignity and prestige through numerous routines none more so than by the multiple appearances of eager beaver candidates on panels, quiz programs, forums, etc. Somehow it seemed at times as if the White House had become involved in a box top

West End Race Track Files Exceptions To Court's Decision

Objections To Closing Order Noted

Russell Mervine, representing the West End race track, Gilbert, yesterday afternoon filed exceptions to the decree nisi handed down by President Judge Fred W. Davis July 15, which placed a permanent injunction against operating the track.

The exceptions were filed at the session of court at which Associate Judge Homer Shupp was also on the bench.

Attorney Mervine filed a long list of exceptions to the court's findings of facts, conclusions of law and decree nisi filed July 15. The defendants had 20 days under the law to file exceptions.

The defendants in the suit were Pleasant Valley Inc., Joseph and Caroline Ribaldi and the West End Automobile Racing Assn., the latter operators of the track.

The plaintiffs were the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, Salem Lutheran Church, Rev. Alton P. Albright, Reformed church pastor; Rev. James R. Laubach, Lutheran pastor; George T. and Elsie A. Dold, Nathaniel P. Gruber and Stanley Dunning.

Plaintiffs' representatives are Attorneys George G. Parry Jr., Philadelphia; George T. Robinson, C. Edward DePuy and Charles Bensinger, Stroudsburg.

There was no argument in the case before the court yesterday, counsel for both sides having agreed the exceptions filed be disposed of by the court on the basis of briefs already filed and arguments already heard by the court prior to the decree nisi. The court took the case under advisement.

Legal proceedings have been under way quite some time, dating back to the time building operations were under way. There was a hearing last November. The half mile dirt track is within 50 feet of church property, testimony in the case showed.

The court's findings in the restraining decree nisi brought out 48 items and restrained the defendants from operating and using the track.

MR. AND MRS. Russell E. Eilber are shown above, center, after their wedding yesterday afternoon at the East Stroudsburg Methodist parsonage. Raymond Mack, left, was best man, and Miss Peggy Davis, right, was maid of honor.

Naomi Heller Is Bride Of R. E. Eilber

Russell E. Eilber, of Stroudsburg, yesterday took as his bride Naomi Heller, also of Stroudsburg, in a ceremony performed at 2:30 p.m. in the parsonage of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton performed the single ring ceremony. The bride wore a dress of powder blue tulle with net, with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Miss Peggy Davis as bridesmaid wore a pink crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Raymond Mack, cousin of the bride, was best man.

After the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held at the Hotel Rapids in Ansonia, and the wedding party then attended a dance in New Jersey.

Mr. Eilber is employed at Glen Brook Country Club. They will make their home in Stroudsburg.

Fidella Picnic Monday

Fidella Class of the St. John's Lutheran Church is planning a picnic supper for Monday night at 6 at the Stroudsburg playground. In case of rain, the supper will be served at the church. Members are requested to bring a covered dish, beverage and their own table service.

Serve watermelon and cantaloupe balls in a sugar syrup flavored with mint; garnish the fruit with sprigs of fresh mint leaves. This combination makes a most refreshing dessert.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

While you've been cooped up with the conventions, things have been changing—the leaves of the cherry trees have turned yellow, and the dark comes much sooner after supper.

Think we'll notice some other changes around the house when the final session has ended. Your own voices will sound strange to your ears, and the art of conversation will have to be revived.

And you'll have to start doing social things again—that is, if you expect to have a social page. Fortunately weekends still bring weddings, but the rest of the week is pretty empty.

Which is wonderful, except it doesn't fill space very fast. Mrs. Smith spent the afternoon watching the children at the wading pool. Mr. and Mrs. Jones spent Saturday night out in the back yard until the mosquitoes started biting. Miss Genevieve Brown spent Monday giving herself a new permanent.

Nope, you'll have to do better than that. Something with "among those present" in it. Seriously though, I hope you're enjoying your summer recess because it's not going to last too much longer.

And this winter, the calendar will have to squish up a bit to make room for another organization: the Soroptimists, which will have its charter night on August 1.

August 1! Why that's next Friday. Time is moving on. We'd better do our resting fast.

Bridge-Luncheon At Pocono Manor For Trinity Church

Pocono Manor—A benefit bridge-luncheon was held Thursday at the Pocono Manor Golf Club House with 125 guests attending. The Women's Guild of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Mt. Pocono, served as hostesses.

The proceeds are to go toward extending the present Bishop's Mission for the summer season, which is the status now held by the Mt. Pocono church, into a year round permanent organization with its own pastor.

At the luncheon yesterday, tables were set up on the new outdoor veranda of the Club House, and were decorated with individual flower arrangements. The menu featured tomatoes stuffed with chicken salad, potato chips, hot rolls, and meringues filled with ice cream and butterscotch sauce.

A crocheted handbag donated by Mrs. John Costello of Philadelphia, Pa., was auctioned as an additional means of raising funds. It was bought by Miss Edith Clark of Pocono Manor.

Hand-decorated gardening gloves were given to the winners at each bridge table. The winners of the unusual door-prizes were: Mrs. D. A. Hansen, Stroudsburg; Miss Helen Warner, Pocono Manor; Mrs. O. Christensen, Tannersville; Mrs. Joseph Englehart, Mountain Home; Mrs. Henry Reninger, Hawthorne Inn; Mrs. Omer Fulton, Pocono Manor; Miss Evelyn Stull, Pocono Manor; and Mrs. B. L. Fansler, Stroudsburg.

Other benefit-events of different types will be held in coming weeks, according to Mrs. John Crandall, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Mt. Pocono. Mrs. Crandall reports that excellent progress is being made toward achieving a year round status for the church.

Italy Vying With France For Style Crown

Rome, (AP)—"The Italian Look" for fall will be unveiled in a silk-and-satin challenge to Parisienne fashion supremacy at Florence this summer.

Italy has been enjoying a fashion renaissance since the war. Roman, Milanese and Florentine designers, working with rich Italian fabrics which formerly were exported, have attracted growing numbers of American and other foreign buyers.

Many American stores featured "The Italian Look" this year. The two big annual shows organized by a dynamic Florentine, G. B. Giorgini, highlight the Italian fashion year. Giorgini's high fashion shows, embracing prize models of almost all top Italian designers, are held at Florence.

The fashion show will be held for two days. Then designers will talk business with buyers. After that, sportswear and boutique showings will be highlighted by new ideas in fashion accessories and textiles.

Italy, publicly scornful of French leadership in fashions, will follow one Paris lead this year. An entrance fee of $100 is to be charged each firm attending the showings.

Previously Italy avoided any charge, believing showings were repaid by buyer good will. This was particularly true last year. Many buyers, after leaving Italy, protested the $100 admission charges made in Paris by Dior, Balmain and Balenciaga to see their showings.

Giorgini made the new charge here reluctantly to keep the shows self-supporting in the face of mounting costs, he says.

Buck Hill Players Plan New Comedy

The Buck Hill Players, of Buck Hill Falls, will present "The Curious Savage" by John Patrick as their second production of the season with performances listed for July 31 and August 1, in the auditorium of the Inn at Buck Hill Falls.

Written by the author of "The Hasty Heart," the play is a gentle and humorous comedy whose action centers around "The Cloisters," a convalescent home in New England.

Opening with the arrival of Mrs. Ethel P. Savage, who has been committed to the home by her children because of what they consider her foolish behavior, the plot concerns hidden bonds, stolen securities, and a wealth of incidents.

It is a play full of warmth, laughter and excitement. Under the direction of Tom Adams, the cast features Lillian Whiteley as Mrs. Savage with Marcia Archibald and Frank Perkins as her children, and also includes Ruth Ebling, Constance Flickinger, Forrest Crompton and Ken Sleeper.

There will be three performances: one at 8:40 on Thursday night; and a matinee at 2:40, and a night performance at 8:40 on Friday. Tickets are on sale at the Buck Hill Auditorium box office from 9 to 12 noon; 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. Reservations may be made by phone, Cresco 3711, Ext. 37.

Carol Snyder Celebrates 12th Birthday

Delaware Water Gap—Carol Snyder celebrated her twelfth birthday anniversary last Monday afternoon at a hot dog roast given in her honor by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Snyder of Main Street, Delaware Water Gap. The party was held at Lake Lenape, with every one enjoying the festivities until threatening rain clouds forced the group to return to Carol's home, where they completed the occasion with a decorated cake with "Happy Birthday Carol" in pink and white frosting written on it, being served with refreshments.

Those present were Camille Buzzard, Vera Storm, Paula Meixell, Linda Ruth, and Gary Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder; Carol's grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Christian.

Invited but unable to attend were, Mary Lou Stevens, Patsy Haymer, and Susan Heitler.

To prepare baby beef or calf liver for broiling, cut away the large veins with the kitchen scissors. Remove the thin skin around the slices of liver to prevent curling edges. Brush the liver with salad oil and broil quickly, turning once. Don't overcook; liver tastes best and is tender when a tinge of pink shows in the center.

To Take Communion

Members of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg, will take communion as a group at the 10 o'clock mass on Sunday morning, according to their monthly custom of observing Communion Sunday together.

For a quick sauce for asparagus add a little lemon juice and tarragon vinegar to commercially prepared mayonnaise; heat the mayonnaise over hot water stirring constantly.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Like a mailman who takes a walk on his vacation, June Edlund comes in to call on her Wyckoff colleagues. Just back from Florida, she's a lovely shade of—well, walnut, if not mahogany. And she doesn't seem one bit anxious to get back to selling sunsets and kimonoes in our little folks' department . . . Gangway! Here comes Laura Fabel looking like an animated ad for Granite Hosiery. And to think all of those boxes she's carrying hold three pairs of those good-looking, long-wearing stockings that are July Jamboree priced at three pairs for $2 . . . I always claim that quality pays. It's particularly true when you buy typing paper, I think. My personal preference—for an excellent reason—is the kind we sell at 85 cents for 100 sheets, because you can erase and no one will ever guess . . . All of the first floor women employees managed to congregate around the gift department yesterday to admire the newly arrived music boxes from Germany. This is the second shipment of the carved wooden "tinkle toys" with the adorable figures on top. One has a complete wedding party and plays "I Love You Truly." Another has a little cabin, a mountaineer, animals and the like, and plays a German tune. And there are some new members of the little angel band—a curly headed cellist, a chubby violinist, and a conductor on a blue podium. Talk about heavenly music! . . . Not quite so heavenly is the music that originates at odd intervals in our advertising department. Almost any trick phrase or chance remark can inspire a duet from the two gentlemen of the staff. But then it's understandable—As any customer knows, Wyckoff bargains are always something to sing about! . . . It's always rather frightening to hear the switchboard operator announce "A little girl aged four has strayed from her parents. She is dressed in a red skirt and a white blouse trimmed with red. If you see her, please dial the store operator." But it's gratifying to know that thanks to our efficient amplifying system, the child will undoubtedly be located in a comparatively short time. Ah—there goes the bell and Frieda Manze turns, smiling, to report that little Christine is back once again with her mother and daddy . . . I love Wyckoff's for dozens of reasons and here's a few that are uppermost in my mind—the friendliness of everyone from the executives on down, the air conditioning, the fair prices for really GOOD merchandise, and the ease with which I can buy everything from a shoe string to a complete ensemble under one roof. And if I feel this way about it, so must hundreds of other average women shoppers. I've never in my life felt more at home even at home . . . Today is another colossal July Jamboree day. Let's go bargain hunting, shall we?

Pocono Mountain Artists Exhibit 17 Paintings

In order to acquaint vacationists with the artistic talents of many of the ever-growing group of Pocono Mountain artists, the management of A. B. Wyckoff, Inc., yesterday announced the hanging of an invitation art exhibit in the store's tearoom. Seventeen paintings in oil and water color, and one portrait in crayon and pencil by Robert Logan, establish for the visitor the fact that cultural interests are as much a part of local tradition as the hospitality that distinguishes this area as one of Pennsylvania's principal "playgrounds."

Every season of the year is represented in the collection, which concentrates largely upon the beauty of the Delaware Valley. Perhaps influenced by the soaring mercury of the past several weeks, two artists are showing paintings of winter. One of these is Peter Holden's "Delaware Water Gap," in which the muted colors of late fall add to the beauty of a scene otherwise crystallized in snow and ice. Holden, whose work is widely known, is represented by five canvases, the others being "Alpine Scene," "Bavarian Lake," "The Water Gap" (a smaller study showing the famed cleft in the mountain as it looks from a roadway with houses nestled in the foreground) and "Arizona Scene." The latter is done in all the glorious colors and warmth one would expect to find on a golden, sun-baked desert, and with the usual Holden gift for creating vast depths upon even a small canvas.

The second of the winter scenes is Edna Palmer Engelhardt's "Glancing Sun." Mrs. Engelhardt interprets a woodland through which most residents of this area have tramped more than once on a brisk, clear day in winter—a day when the snow lies white and billowing upon the rocks along the creek, and the birches rise stately and smooth beside the rhododendrons, the leaves of which have lost their crisp summer and under the onslaught of storm and the fading sun lights this canvas interestingly, and adds a note of warmth that is very real and welcome.

Another woodland scene is that of "Little Beaver Creek" by Harriet R. Willis, who shows banks of laurel in bloom along a creek that might be the very one in the Engelhardt painting. The colors here are bright—the pink of the flowers, the deep green of the pine trees, the brown of the earth, and an abundance of chertreuse.

Robert Logan, whose study of Barbara Kaiser is the only portrait in the show, is one of this area's best known professionals. At home in any media, his portraits are a fascinating composite of the artist and all who know her. Mr. Logan has the gift of catching not only an expression but a personality in his work, and his portraits are treasured in many local homes. Beautiful too is his oil painting of "Beaver Valley," the gold of wheat in the foreground, the patchwork splendor of distant fields and distant trees, and the soft, rolling quality of the hills telling at a glance the story of this locality's scenic splendor.

From a standpoint of delicacy, one of the most exquisite paintings is J. Havard Macpherson's "Larkspur." Showing a blue vase, filled with blue larkspur, the focal point of the canvas is a large plate of intricate design that stands upright against the wall. Its design of dragons, scrolls and rich ornament is done with a delicacy only an artist of Mr. Macpherson's stature could hope to equal. Interesting too are the number of shades of blue worked into the overall picture, to the delight of the spectator. Mr. Macpherson is also represented by a small, beautifully painted still life.

The surprise of the exhibit is a beautiful canvas of the Water Gap painted by Gladys Shiffer, wife of Dr. Paul Shiffer. An exhibitor in many previous shows, Mrs. Shiffer's work possesses a natural talent that is refreshing and appealing. This painting is completely at home in the most awesome professional company, and while it has a price tag as does every picture in the show—the artist admits she'd just as soon keep it right at home, where it has established itself firmly in the family's affections.

Down to earth, but endearingly human, is Gwynne Lennon's "Charlie's Garage," in water color. Her more ambitious "Ginger Jar" which won honors in the Wyckoff art show last fall, is also on exhibit, but that is sheer beauty. "Garage" shows a typical middle class neighborhood of tall houses and clothes flapping on the line, and an alley where men and slack-clad women wash the car and generally pretty it up. "Ginger Jar" is porcelain and drapery, roses and apples on a dish. The other is life as average folks live it.

Similar is "Lineless Barn" as Dave Miller captures it in water color. Down to earth and as natural as breathing, this painting sends beauty in that which is old, utilitarian, and plain. Anyone can understand it.

And anyone can understand Peter Mendler's water color of a Negro lad, tenderly cradling a goose in his arms... or feel the movement of the water and the clouds in his study of "Boats." Mendler is another versatile artist, as skilled in this medium as in the oils which won a prize in last fall's art show.

Artistically at least, "there's gold in these here hills."

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Lanky, smiling, hard working Harry Schaeffer will undoubtedly remember Detroit as long as those attending the Democratic convention remember the Windy City of Chicago. Detroit is the city to which the New York Yankees ordered Schaeffer to rejoin the top club in the American League on Thursday, after the graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and a former hurler with the Stroudsburg Poconos, had served two months of an exile sentence in Kansas City, the "AAA" farm club of the Yankees and the Sig power in the American Association.

Two months, plus a few odd days, doesn't sound like a great deal of time when mentioned quickly, but under the circumstances which Schaeffer served, it must have felt like two years. However, Harry came back, as his close friends knew he would, never once giving up the fight which began at Gordon Giffels field in 1946 and turned to another chapter at Briggs Stadium, Detroit, last night, as Harry returned to the uniform of the same club that shipped him off with a train ticket and a slap on the back last spring, without that second chance that he had been promised, after a brilliant spring showing, except for one loss to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Even that train ride from New York to Kansas City must have felt like a world cruise on a tramp steamer, as Schaeffer was one of those determined guys who wanted to stick with the American League champs for his wife and newly born son. However, even though he pitched brilliantly in the south during the spring, his one poor showing against the Dodgers in the Stadium, seemed to upset the Yankee brain trust and Harry was absolutely no action with the Bronx Bombers through the early part of May, when he was given train fare to Kansas City.

The fact that Harry pitched only batting practice for the New York club didn't help his conditioning program and he wasn't in top playing shape when he reached Kansas City. It took the plucky southpaw the best part of a month to round into pitching form, but his work in the last two and one-half weeks, during which he won five straight games, earned his recall to the parent Yankees. Harry's record at one time was only one win and four setbacks, but when Schaeffer received notice of his recall, the resident of Shillington, Pa., was sporting a mark of six victories and four setbacks, the same as that of Tom Gorman, when the latter was recalled slightly more than a week ago from the same Kansas City club.

Harry's many friends in Monroe County, where he is an adopted son, rejoiced yesterday when it was learned that Harry was receiving another chance with the Yankees. One of the New York writers wrote yesterday that Harry was scheduled to pitch one of the four games between the Yankees and Detroit Tigers in the present series. This is Schaeffer's big chance and one that he can't afford to miss. This writer is only one of hundreds of people who will be pulling for the string-bean lefty to the hit.

According to the sparse information that this column has been able to pick up in recent days, the recall of Schaeffer was prompted by two factors. First, the streak of five straight wins and improved mound work naturally was the major factor, but secondly, the vast improvement on Harry's chances of making good with the Yankees. All through Schaeffer's winning performances the fact that his control was vastly improved was clearly noted. Schaeffer's recent one-hitter featured only two walks, probably an all-time low for the Shillington southpaw. Here's hoping that winning streak continues with the Yankees.

Jim Barnhardt, a pitcher who attended one year of school at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, also broke into the news this week, when the right-handed bucker tossed a no-hit, no-run game for Portsmouth, of the Piedmont League, a class "B" organization, on Monday. Jim, who received his professional start with Bangor, of the class "B" North Atlantic League, won over the Lenoire Red Sox, 5-1, giving up one run on four walks.

as the former took the measure of International Boiler Works, 20-2, at Gordon Giffels field, while Worthington Mower stopped Line Material, 6-2, at the East Stroudsburg Playground.

International Boiler held a 2-1 lead at the end of the first inning, but the outcome of the game was never in doubt as Monroe Silk scored eight times in the second and won going away.

Kenny Roth allowed only one hit to IBW, as he hurled shutout ball for the winning aggregation after the first inning.

The winning Monroe Silk club picked up two more runs in the third, four in the fourth and wound up the game with three in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Early Edge
Worthington Mower did the bulk of its damage in the early innings against Line Material, picking up a singleton in the first and then exploding for three in the second. Single counters in the fourth and sixth rounds served as insurance runs for the winning aggregation.

Line Material escaped a shutout by pushing two runs into play in the top of the sixth.

Bill Kupiszewski limited the Line Material club to three hits, while striking out 16 batters and walking four.

Ashenfelter Registers Olympic Upset

By Ted Smith
Helsinki, (AP)—Horace Ashenfelter won the 3,000 meter steeplechase yesterday for the most unexpected and spectacular victory the United States has scored in the thrill-packed, record, busting Olympic games.

The 29-year-old special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation from Penn State did it by running the heart out of Vladimir Kazantsev of Russia on the last lap.

Ashenfelter was followed on the victory platform and on the Olympic record breaking list by Jamaica's George Rhoden, a student at Morgan State College in Baltimore.

Ashenfelter's time of 8:45.4 was the fastest the steeplechase has ever been run. Rhoden won the 400 meter run from his team mate, Herb McKenley, in 45.9 seconds.

Bettors Mark

Slim, pretty Marjorie Jackson of Australia ran the women's 200 meters semi-finals in 33.4, bettering the world mark of 36.6 set by Stella Walsh of Poland and the U.S.A. back in 1935.

The crowd of nearly 70,000 kept up a constant roar during the afternoon's great races.

Russia continued to pick up points in side arenas to run its total for the entire games to 348 and one-half against 250 for the United States. Hungary is a distant third with 110, Sweden fourth with 85 and one-half, and Germany and Switzerland tied for fifth with 58.

Never have track and field records been treated with such disdain. In all, 21 Olympic records have been exceeded and five world records lowered by the men and the girls.

Play started in the basketball round robin with the United States topping Hungary 66-48. Other scores included: Argentina 85, Philippines 59; Uruguay 53, Czechoslovakia 51; Russia 74, Bulgaria 46; Mexico 66, Finland 48.

Tops Field

A U. S. Army-master sergeant, Huelet Benner, won the pistol shooting gold medal with a score of 553 out of a possible 600. Russia's Ivan Uddovov won the bantamweight weightlifting championship, and Hungary won the team championship in the modern Pentathlon in which Lars Hall of Sweden was the individual winner.

Ashenfelter's big gold medal made it 12 for the USA in track and field in these games. That matches the best America has done since the program was stabilized in 1920. Six events remain to be contested, and the United States could win two or even three of these.

Ashenfelter was the rankiest kind of outsider in this field of fast stepping Europeans. An American hasn't won an Olympic distance race since 1908, and no one thought the slender Ashenfelter could do it.

But when he won his steeplechase heat in 8:51 his stock began to rise. This bettered the old Olympic mark of 9:03.8 set by Finland's great Volmari Iso-Hollo back in 1936.

Important Contests Feature Association Diamond Slate

Four games will feature the red-hot Pocahontas Mountain Association pennant dash tomorrow, as Newfoundland enters the grid with a lead of 551 percentage points over the second place Daleville contingent. Both games are even in the games behind column. Tomorrow's action on all fronts is scheduled to get under way at 2 p. m.

U.S. Leads Over Japan

Cincinnati, (AP)—Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia yesterday shot the United States into a 2-0 lead over Japan in the opening singles matches of the Davis Cup tennis elimination.

It took more than two hours for Larsen to dispose of Jiro Kumamaru, 6-4, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

Seixas made short work of Atushi Miyagi in the second singles match, winning the three 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

Outclassed

Miyagi won the first three games from Seixas, but was completely outclassed by the husky Philadelphia rest of the way.

The doubles match will be played today and the final singles matches Sunday.

In the first match, the two hour play was largely a battle of the base lines as Kumamaru elected to stay back and hammer long volleys at Larsen.

The blonde haired Larsen had too much variety in his shots and except for a lapse in the third set was more than the Japanese could handle.

American Cagers Fail To Impress

Helsinki, (AP)—The United States and Russia gained easy victories yesterday in the opening round of the Olympic basketball tournament but the Russians were more impressive.

The Americans gave the impression of being stale in punching out a listless 66-48 triumph over the outclassed team from Hungary while the Soviet five was all sparkle and ginger in racing by its cominform partner, Bulgaria, 74-46.

"We looked mighty ragged out there today," Coach Warren Womble said of the American entry after the game.

Stock Cars At West End

Gilbert—Owners of the West End Speedway announced last night that the half-mile oval located here near the West End Fair grounds would hold its regular stock car racing program tomorrow. The action is scheduled to get underway.

The program will consist, as usual, of three qualifying heats, a consolation encounter and the feature event.

Entries

A large field of cars is expected to campaign on the West End track, with the program open to all those who qualify for the various events.

There is parking space available and refreshments may be purchased during the racing schedule. Last Sunday's program was washed off the books by rain.

Giants Take Measure Of Reds

New York, (AP)—Jim Hearn pitched and batted the New York Giants to a 3-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday.

Hearn led the New York attack slugging a home run with catcher Sal Yvars on base after two were out in the fifth inning.

Breaks Tie

Hearn's homer, his second of the year, broke a scoreless tie.

The Giants went on to tally another run before the side was retired when Davey Williams singled and came in on Alvin Dark's double.

The Reds got their lone run in the eighth on singles by Eddie Pellagrini and Roy McMillan and pinch-hitter "Hank" Edwards' long fly to center.

Rhodes Writes Opinion That Bars Fare Hike In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh (AP) — Blasting the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission as "arbitrary and unreasonable," the State Superior Court halted yesterday proposed fare hikes by Pittsburgh Railways Co.

The high court refused to permit the firm to put into effect Sunday a 20-cent trolley fare and a 25-cent bus fare, it ordered the new rates postponed indefinitely.

In its opinion, the court criticized the PUC for granting the new rate schedule without first rendering a final decision on fare boosts last Sept. 10. The court said the action was "arbitrary, unreasonable and contrary to law."

The City of Pittsburgh protested the proposed hikes, sixth since World War II, contending the new schedule would give Pittsburgh the highest transportation rates in the nation.

Written by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes of Stroudsburg, the court's opinion said the PUC evidently had forgotten the commission was created primarily to protect the public.

The court agreed with City Solicitor Anne X. Alpern that the PUC's announcement dismissing the city's plea for suspension of the fare boosts was in effect an order of the commission and worthy of appeal to the Superior Court.

Yesterday Was Deadline For G.I. Benefits

Washington (AP) — Yesterday was the deadline for the great majority of World War II veterans to receive unemployment and self-employment readjustment allowances in a program which has cost nearly 4 billion dollars.

The Veterans Administration program, which was called the "52-20 Club" by some, will continue for those persons who enlisted or re-enlisted in the armed forces between Oct. 6, 1945, and Oct. 5, 1946. Such persons have two years from the date of their discharge in which to apply for benefits.

Yesterday also was the last day on which disabled World War II veterans in need of vocational training could qualify for a four-year training course.

With the curtain coming down on the World War II readjustment allowance program, the show is just beginning for veterans who served in the armed forces anywhere since June 27, 1950—the date the Korean war started. President Truman on July 16 signed a law granting them $26 a week for up to 26 weeks as unemployment compensation.

Store Clerks Select AFL Association

Six regional stores of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. are among 163 stores in Northeastern Pennsylvania and the Southern Tier of New York where the AFL-Retail Clerks International Association was selected as bargaining agency for approximately 1,500 store clerks.

The bargaining agency was selected by a margin of better than two to one.

Stores affected here are Portland, Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Brodheadsville, Mount Pocono and Candanensis.

Outcome of the balloting in the National Labor Relations Board election, held Monday and Tuesday, was disclosed yesterday after the votes were tallied at the general offices of A&P for this region in Scranton.

There were 800 votes for the Retail Clerks International Association to 394 for the AFL-Analagmatized Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America. In addition, 91 votes were cast for no union.

Chester S. Montgomery, field examiner of the NLRB Fourth Region, Philadelphia, with seven assistants, supervised the count, said 23 votes were challenged and two were voided.

Eight teams of tabulators—four persons to a team—counted the votes. Each competing union has a representative on each team, as did the company. An NLRB representative was the fourth member of each team.

Police Close Investigation Of Accident

Stroudsburg State Police yesterday closed an investigation of a two-car accident which occurred two miles west of Stroudsburg on Route 209 Thursday noon.

Involved in the mishap were Harry Benard Corrigan, 53, a Reading physician returning from a vacation in New York, and Ralph W. Greensweig, 50, of Wind Gap. Police said Greensweig told them he was driving east on 209 at "about 35 m.p.h." when he noticed a car coming toward him at a slow rate of speed.

"About 25 feet" in front of his own vehicle, Greensweig told police, the other car began to "drift over to" his side. In order to avoid a collision, he continued, he swerved to the side, but the other car kept coming and struck the side of his vehicle.

After the collision, Greensweig informed police, the Corrigan car "kept on going."

The Reading driver was stopped by Brodheadsville police and interviewed there.

Corrigan told police that "he was a diabetic" and "while driving began to get dizzy." He was apparently in a semi-coma when the collision occurred, police said.

Damage to the Greensweig vehicle was listed as $50 by police. The investigation was completed yesterday and no arrests were made.

Saylorsburg—A 62-year-old Stockertown hotel owner is in serious condition at St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, following injuries suffered early yesterday near here when his car crashed into a tree.

The man, John Sipos, was taken to the hospital in the Wind Gap ambulance after emergency treatment by Dr. R. H. Dreher of Wind Gap.

Witness said Sipos was driving at a moderate rate of speed when his car suddenly appeared to be "out of control."

The car was badly damaged by the collision with a tree in front of the Mrs. Ruth Mackes home. St. Luke's Hospital officials said last night that Sipos condition is listed as "serious." He is suffering from a fractured hip and a possible fractured skull.

The injured man was placed in an oxygen tent early yesterday and remained there last night.

Investigation of the accident will continue today, the Brodheadsville sub-station indicated.

COAL STRIKE Nationwide Threatens

By the United Press

WASHINGTON, July 24 — John L. Lewis and the coal industry squared off today for a new wage battle amid threats of a nationwide coal strike within two months.

The United Mine Workers chief served notice yesterday on the bituminous coal industry that he wants a new contract for 400,000 soft-coal miners within 56 days.

If the negotiations are not successful—and indications are that both sides are set for a long, hard fight—the miners will be free to strike Sept. 20. The walkout would come just as the nation prepares for cooler weather.
